I believe everyone should have a go at growing their own. It's easier than it looks, and there's nothing like eating food you've grown yourself.

But each plant has different needs, and growing more than one thing can be confusing. When to sow? When to plant? When to harvest?

So to help you, I have designed the ultimate, easy-to-follow vegetable growing calendar.

Bear in mind that this is intended as a guide and the weather, your soil and even where you live can affect how plants grow.

But if something doesn't work, please don't give up. Practice makes perfect, after all.

Have Fun and Good Luck!
